Your emails are so aggressive...

You promised me help with visa 6months ago and I have expressed my appreciation of that offer. I sure hope you are not leading me on. I'm doing my part but I can't talk to your friend, I can't work and at this point I can't move forward without your decisions, permissions and help. You are well aware time is of the essence and I am starting to feel like I am being set up. I really hope you don't gamble with my time and then leave me hanging again Enjoy your two-week trip.
