I am very troubled. I finally found a guy with whom I have amazing sex, it's seriously GREAT, but he is not here now and I start really suffering from not having it - I can't focus at all. I think about sex all the time, I see cocks everywhere. It's deeply troubling. Soon, I don't even have to masturbate and I will come. That would be funny while trying to appeal a child trafficking case during appellate advocacy.
