I want to do a dark floor also...like the pictures...most of the cabinetry will be white and the white "Rain Cloud" corian with a few token dark cabinets and the island...we have another island that I want to split and make some counter height and put bar stools...so the lower portion will be Corian and the upper will be wood. What does Bob's sister think of the white marble? I'm just too concerned about it...

I hope bob is feeling better...it sucks to be sick and stuck at home. I hope you and Sam steer clear of it! this snow is not going to be good for our hole in the ground! [REDACTED] is excited about the possibility of sledding but that is the only thing good i can think about it!

I love these! Bob's sister has white cabinets with white marble (like the 3rd photo). It is beautiful – but like you said, not very practical but if you can get a corian that looks like it, that sounds great.

Dark chocolate and white cabinets would look great. I love mixing stuff like that. Bob mixed two different woods in the house up the street. One was very dark and the other was medium and it was gorgeous.

What are you doing on the kitchen floor?

Bob is sick....I'm spraying Lysol everywhere. Sam and I don't want what he's got! ☺ I hope he's better tomorrow. He's got to get up there and check on Nelson!! I'll boot him out of here tomorrow even if he's still sick!☺
