Totally made me laugh! How sweet!! Love is in the Colorado air!! I am very happy the whole family is enjoying being together and discussing the important, however basic, aspects of life! Love and miss you both. I am working on tickets to tx this week. Looks like we will go thurs to mon though now and miss ash et al. Ike can't come till fri after work. I will email possible itinerary ideas this week also. Love, [REDACTED]

It's like being on our second honeymoon – everything is so luscious and beautiful! And since we have the dogs along, Randy and I now have a whole exciting new topic of conversation to help endear us to one another.

It goes something like this: "I saw Cricket pee but not poop," "Well I saw Cha Cha poop and pee," "Take Cricket out again she needs to poop," "Time for the dogs to pee – it's YOUR turn to go!" etc., etc., etc. endlessly! It's SOOOO romantic we're falling in love again all over! Randy, Cha Cha, Cricket ..... I love you.

Ashley and [REDACTED] I love you, too and wish you were here instead of my other children – the dogs! Love mom
