I had fun too! and def enjoyed the food also. . . at least it was just chicken and grilled veggies (in the scheme of dinners, it was relatively healthy) -- altho the rockin piece of bread with butter prob wasn't necessary (but tasted so yummy!) -- and that bric was AWESOME!

Pete is calling the admin gal today for RIPP -- and I want to hear more of what Cass said also. . . I too thought about that comment --- and I suppose, it is HIS IRA that the $$ is coming out of. . . whatever. . .

I DEF want to do the New Canaan mile and come for your party -- i'll make guacamole!

yes, braden is REALLY growing up. . . and acting very teenagerish. His academics are not the best, but I'm staying on top of it with his teachers. . . he's not happy with me right now - but that is just too bad.

I thought you looked great last night!

> Last night was great! Really fun to be at yalls house. Ate and drank too much. Woke up every hour wondering if it was time to wake up yet. I hate that I do that the night before the work day. I always sleep way better Monday night (in this case it will be ties night). But it was a lot of fun. Love my little jewelry box. Sweet of Cassidy. And I can't beleive Braden. So big. Have a great short week. Oh, and we must talk more about this private school. That also kept me awake and thinking.
