I thought that you might appreciate the lovely sunny deep blue sky environment in which I took that picture especially as I imagine you in cold rainy London.

As for the fashionable item du jour today, it is anything military. I will be out and about tonight in Miami and was considering some sort of weapon, an automatic perhaps, might do nicely. I could get a lot of attention What do you think?

By the way, I thought you should know that [REDACTED] produced not one photo of you but 4! Just in case you do not recall the moment of capture on film you were in the pool.

Nice touch.....it seems like a nice place wherever you took this picture.

So what is the "in" thing that you are wearing now?? Miss Fashion consultant/advisor?
