A GREAT STORY: FROM VISITOR TO PILLAR

Several years ago, the Lord led a couple to Dallas via a career move and placed them in a neighborhood close to Park Cities Presbyterian Church. Eventually, the husband, Thom, decided he would drop in the church on a Sunday morning to visit. During the worship service, there was a time when you greeted your neighbor. It just so happened that Thom was sitting a row behind a member named Bill Bogart. Bill invited Thom to join him at the Tuesday Morning Men's Bible Study and sit with him at his table. Thom accepted the invitation and joined Bill two days later.

That was the beginning of a great journey. Thom and Bill hit it off, and Thom became a very integral part of Bill's table. One morning Bill said to me, the support person for table leaders at the study, that he thought Thom would be a great table leader and that I should get to know him. Thom and I met, and Thom very openly shared his life story with me. Thom clearly had an incredible heart for the Lord and for His people. We developed a deeply meaningful friendship and became a support to each other.

At one point, Thom said he would like to learn more about the doctrine of the Presbyterian church. I connected Thom with one of PCPC's elders, Tim Jeffress, who has an incredible ability to clearly and concisely explain the "reformed faith." Thom and Tim hit it off, and Thom loved sitting and learning at the feet of Tim. That ultimately led Thom and his wife, Pam, to join the church.

As our friendship grew, so did Thom's involvement in ministry to men and the Care Ministries at the church. Thom eventually took on leadership of the Men's Care Groups, where there was a specific emphasis on sexual brokenness. This all came about at the same time that Thom took early retirement, which allowed him to invest a significant amount of time in walking alongside men. There is no telling how many lives Thom has touched while at the same time helping to lay a foundation in the church where it is okay to acknowledge brokenness. The ripple effects of that will go far and wide.

Recently Thom taught the young adult class at the church. You could quite easily hear Tim Jeffress's influence on Thom's teaching. You could hear a very caring and compassionate heart. You could hear a man who calls out sin but quickly points to a Savior. You could hear a man who was clearly an instrument in the Redeemer's hand.

There is no way that we can thank the Lord enough for His redemptive work in the lives of His children like Thom!
- Pat Hobin, Director of Care & Counseling

JACQUELINE & PHILIP
Marriage Ministries

As first time re|engage participants, we didn't really know what to expect. We had no specific reason or difficult marital issue that led us to sign up, but we had heard positive reviews from a few couples who had participated and knew it would be a beneficial way to spend Wednesday evenings. What we discovered during our time in re|engage is that every marriage can be grown and blessed.

For us, the biggest benefit to participating was learning useful methods and a vocabulary to improve our communication. Using these tools, we are now able to articulate our own needs, desires, and struggles while better understanding and responding to those of our spouse. A few of our other favorite parts of re|engage were developing new relationships with our leaders and the couples in our group, deepening relationships with couples from our small group who also participated, and hearing the testimony of the Lord's faithfulness in marriages of couples within the PCPC body. Each week we walked away encouraged and inspired by the authenticity and wisdom displayed by the couples who courageously shared how the Lord has worked in their lives and transformed their marriages. Through re|engage, you not only gain practical tools for marriage, but also develop relationships with wise, godly couples within the church who are eager to use their stories to encourage others.

A RE|ENGAGE STORY: ENCOURAGED & INSPIRED

No matter how easy or hard you would describe your marriage, we encourage every married couple to consider participating in re|engage. You may be surprised by what you learn and how the Lord might shape you in the process!
- Jacqueline & Philip Carson

re|engage is a marriage enrichment program. Marriages in any condition can benefit, whether you are struggling to get along, your marriage is broken, or you simply want to grow closer together as a couple. re|engage examines God's design for marriage and applies principles from the Bible to guide couples towards growth in their relationship with each other.

UNION is a 9-week course for seriously dating, engaged, and newly married couples. We will cover topics such as the Biblical meaning of marriage, expectations, communication, in-laws, Biblical roles of husband and wife, money and stewardship, conflict management, forgiveness, and intimacy.

Small Groups – Newly Married couples are encouraged to join a small group community to study and discuss biblical marriage and the tools you need to be successful in your relationship. These groups are typically 5-6 couples and are facilitated by a seasoned married couple.
