WOMEN FOR GOD: EARLY MORNING & MAYMESTER

MAY 10, 17, 24 & 31 | 7:00 A.M. & 10:00 A.M.

Join us for a 4-week study on Wednesdays in May entitled "Women for God - God's Power through the Lives of Women." Only a few women in Scripture are called prophets. What does "prophet" mean, and how did God bring influence for Himself through these women? Are there special purposes God has now for women in our families, communities, and culture? We will examine Scripture's record, think, and talk together about God's plan and His action in our lives. Teacher: Neatice Warner. Childcare for Maymester is available by registration until May 5.

FIRST FRIDAY & BEFRIEND

By Jane Edson,
PCPC Communication Specialist

GOSPEL AT WORK

There's a ministry within our church that meets the needs of parents and families in a tangible, meaningful way. On Friday nights once a month, Park Cities Presbyterian Church (PCPC) opens its doors for an evening of play and togetherness called "First Friday" and "bEfriend." During First Friday, parents of children with disabilities can drop off their kids for fun activities and discipleship in a safe environment that supports their needs and joys.

Meanwhile, parents or caretakers can enjoy rest or a date night out. Siblings are included in the fun too! Typically, this event reaches about 15-20 kids a month. Going on simultaneously, bEfriend provides opportunities for adults with special needs to gather with other adults for fellowship, dinner, and community. It's not just a night of fun and rest; it's about the gospel at work within the Body of Christ.

BODY OF CHRIST

What has happened because of First Friday and bEfriend? We've seen a picture of the Body of Christ working together in a unique way. My 10-year-old son with autism attends First Friday. While there, he loves doing "chair races" through the lobby and exploring the grounds of the church with his adult buddy alongside him. The church building used to intimidate my son with hundreds of people and sensory stimuli on Sunday mornings. However, on a Friday night, it's not loud, and there's no pressure in a classroom. He is loved, disciplined, and supported.

As a mom, I have worried about how my son would fit in with boys his age at church. How would he even hear the gospel in a way that speaks to his literal-minded brain that has difficulty believing in what it cannot see? However, coming to First Friday has made me realize that it's the same gospel for us all regardless of how our brain or body is wired. There's not a special gospel for children with special needs. There isn't any sensory equipment, physical tools, or an app to buy that would best deliver the gospel for kids with disabilities. There's just one Lord and one Gospel. At First Friday, other families from PCPC come to love on and build relationships with kids like my son who maybe don't have a friend or just need that one-on-one attention due to God-given differences. Then again on Sunday mornings, kids can see many of those same church member volunteers serving as their Sunday morning buddies. That familiar face and repetition truly puts kids at ease and provides a meaningful connection.

I'm thankful that through programs like First Friday and bEfriend at PCPC, we can trust that the Lord is using His church to meet the needs of kids and adults to hear the gospel and to see the love of Christ through the hands and feet of others. I'm thankful I am not alone in preaching the gospel to my child with special needs or his siblings. Just looking around at the joy on other parent's faces as they drop off their kids for First Friday, I can see the Lord's handiwork.

WORD OF THANKS

Thank you to all those who have volunteered in First Friday and bEfriend! Thank you to Jeanie Cox, Michelle Scudder, and Laura Lee Calce. The next First Friday and bEfriend will be held April 28 and will re-launch again in the fall after a summer break. For more information, contact Jeanie.Cox@pcpc.org.

LOOKING FOR A GOOD READ?

PCPC's Bookstore Manager, Amy Tassos, shares a few recs this month for parents of kids with special needs.

WONDERFULLY MADE

Because we are made in the image of God (Genesis 1:26), every human has value. Wonderfully Made instructs us on the life of a whole person, an embodied soul who belongs to our Creator.
